Each member is asked to carry ruler pencil, paper and sewing equipment such as scissors, pins, etc., and any garmeent they wish to make over or change. If any one has a pattern they wish to use or think someone else might use it carry that along too. The most satisfactory use for discarded garments is to make children's clothing and the following suggestions are offered in hopes they may help to decide what to carry if not already decided upon. The following suggestions are made: Coats or suits made into dresses for adults or children; princess slips or silk dresses into petticoats; dresses into waists; men's trousers into boy's trousers; men's coats into boy's coats, or suits, or into girl's coats; wash skirt into middy, wait, rompers, petticoat or apron; knitted underwear into children's underwear; night gowns into children's petticoats, drawers, or chemise; men's shirts into child's rompers, dress, apron, suit or sport skirt. ### Norway Boy Scouts

At 8:30 Saturday the Norway Boy Scouts started on their March Hike. They gathered at the American Legion Hall and started of mass-formation. The route led up by Norway Lake to the Lookout Tower and from there straight to the back side of Pikes Hill and from there to Norway village. The going was very good in the morning but, as the boys described it, in the afternoon "rather billious".

The boys all cooked their dinners in the shelter of a large clump of pines south of Lookout Tower and worked off the after-effects by a big snowball fight in which the boys located in the Tower got the worst of it. After this they carried on several treasure hunts which proved as interesting as ever.

After this strenuous exercise the boys managed to get rid of the extra "steam" by taking "the long way home." On the way back part of the boys stopped at George Howes and listened to some of his interesting "jag talks" as well as looking over his varied collection of gems.

The report of Tag Day was given by the committee, ten girls of the senior class in High school, gave Monday forenoon to this work and reported fifty-eight dollars and fifty-two cents given, as the result of their faithful work. The Union appreciates the generous response and the school for its cooperation. Three new members were received Mrs. Carrie Philbrook, Miss Lizzie Sawyer, and Mrs. Hancock, and Mr. Barnard was received as an Honorary member.

The Union gave three dollars to the "Star Endowment Fund" to place the names of Mrs. Newell Tubbs, Mrs. Henry Porter and Mrs. Martha Anderson in the new book which is to be kept at headquarters, called "The Recognition Register of the Rank and File." Mrs. Ella M. Bates of West Paris gave one thousand dollars to start this fund. It was voted to pay one dollar to the Lillian M. Stevens Fund.

The Treasurer's report showed that the Union had given a year's subscription of the "Union Signal" to be placed in each of the following places, High School Room, Public Library, and Legion Rooms; Six copies of the Young Crusader for the grade rooms in the High School building and one copy for the library, and a copy of "Star in the East" also. ### SOUTH PARIS

Excessive Tax Rate

1921 tax rate $53.60 on a thousand. That's what was paid by any property holder in South Paris village. Town tax $46.00 and corporation tax $7.60 on a thousand. This year the corporation tax will be more than any year of our recollection. Our state tax will increase approximately $950.00. I understand if the State builds the connection link of State road between Paris and Woodstock the town will be required to build or build in part, two concrete bridges, one at the Berry farm and one above Trap Corner, both expensive on account of abatements. For an estimate, eight to ten thousand dollars cost. We have many ladies in our town who own dwellings and rents, men in our factories who are trying to pay mortgages on homesteads and come to pay interest money 6% and tax rate making 12%. No doubt but what we have many business men who can pay this extraordinary high tax rate while you are forcing hardship on widows and the common laboring man who is doing his best to pay for a home. There is no person but what wants a good road to Hebron and I think it can be acquired by our regular appropriation if you will allow your road commissioner Bennett to put a team and two extra men down on that road and cart gravel and get out rocks. Oscar Barrows did excellent work on that road some eight years ago, carting and cutting bushes.

I refer you to Charles H. George of Hebron about this statement. Don't try to make people think a State road ends the maintenance cost on a gravel highway. We have not expended as much on the Hebron road each year for the past 15 years as the maintenance would cost for patrol on the same if it was a State road.

The reduction in the cost of labor and teams is 25% or more this year. The men who ask for large appropriations seem to forget you can hire teams two to three dollars less a day than formerly. When we got the $48,000.00 for our cement road, everyone said at that time, "We will go slow and maintain our roads and help the school housing question next." Now why don't we live up to our promise?

I still claim we are selfish if we ask too much from the north end of this town in the way of special appropriation for the south end. Our townspeople should be better judges of what we can do than any outsider. If the people vote at this special town meeting directly after a regular town meeting to raise our tax rate, it will be, I think, about the first break in our history or a good representation of the annual town meeting doings.

Now if the opponents of the regular town meeting win, I, for one, won't ask the extra expense of calling a town meeting again, which means no small amount. The agricultural and manufacturing interest should be protected by lower taxation. Good roads are essential and an asset to any town but not unreasonably beyond the income of the larger class of the people of the town of Paris.

C. W. Bowker.

Boyce-Hatch

At the home of the officiating minister, Rev. Chester G. Miller, on Saturday evening, March 11, George Percy Boyce and Gladys Pearl Hatch were united in marriage, the double ring service being used. The contracting parties are of South Pars and are well known, having been identified with the social life of the town. Mr. Boyce is in the employ of the Paris Manufacturing Co. The bride is a graduate of the high school in the class of 1920. For some years she sang in the Æolian Quartet and has been prominent on many musical programs. For the present Mr. and Mrs. Boyce will live with the groom's parents on Park Street.

Boys' and Girls' Clubs

A conference of the leaders of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs of Oxford County was held Wednesday, March 15, in the Farm Bureau office at South Paris with leaders representing several communities in the county in attendance. Both the State leader, Lester H. Shibles and the assistant State Club leader, Alfreda Ellis were present.

Edward H. Brown, agricultural instructor at Norway, in his remarks reviewed the work of the clubs the past year in Norway and stated that this year the boys were interested principally in the poultry and pig projects.

Reports were also given by Oxford, Paris and Bethel leaders. There are now ten projects and twelve assistant leaders in the county and there is every indication of increased interest and a large enrollment in the boys' and grls' clubs this year.

Mrs. Arthur C. Thurlow

Mrs. Mary H. A. Thurlow passed away Friday noon at her home on High St., South Paris. Her age was 46 years. She had been in failing health for a long period, but the end came suddenly after a few days of serious illness.

She was the daughter of the late Rev. Henry and Caroline F. (Maxim) Austin and had resided in this village a number of years, coming from the Tubbs District, Mrs. Thurlow was a member of the South Paris Congregational Church and the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Especially endowed with literary talent, she contributed many noteworthy articles to the local paper dealing with local civic problems.

Besides her husband, she leaves a daughter Doris, a student in the high school; a sister Rose, wife of Charles L. Pulsifer of Poland, and a brother, Henry P. Austin of Bethel.

Services were held Sunday afternoon and attended by Rev. E. A. Morris. Burial will be in Riverside Extension.

Congregational Church Notes

IS It "Just a Cold"?

Norway People Should Ask Themselves This Question

Don't say: "It's just a cold."
It may turn into backache, rheumatic aches, achy joints
Or other serious sickness that comes from weak kidneys.
Colds are due to congestion.
Congestion makes the kidneys overwork to filter the blood.
Colds often leave the kidneys weak.
First break the cold;
Then use Doan's Kidney Pills to avert the kidney dangers.
Let this Norway resident tell you about them.

W. O. Needham, ret. farmer, 230 Main St., says: "At different times when I have taken a cold my kidneys were affected. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills when I felt that my kidneys needed a tonic. Doan's always strengthened my kidneys and cleared my system of the excessive uric acid. I always feel better in a short time after using this remedy. I always get my supply at F. P. Stone's Drug Store." (Statement given July 24, 1908.)

On September 3, 1920 Mr. Needham said, "I haven't changed my good opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills since recommending them many years ago. Doan's benefited me greatly."

PROPOSED PARIS-HEBRON-MINOT STATE ROAD

An article recently appearing in the Norway Advertiser by C. W. Bowker relative to this subject contains statements, that, to say the least are interesting. In this article the citizens of Paris are advised not to worry about Hebron's and Minot's roads, since "more than three-fourths of the distance to the Auburn town line is a state road in both of these two towns and they are good roads enough for any man in an automobile." By his own mis-statements as to the amount of State road in these towns and their condition, he has laid open the way for one of the strongest arguments why Paris should construct her part, in order to make an unbroken stretch of good road between Paris and Auburn. When this same writer goes on to say that a selfish motive should not be granted, he will do well to bear in mind that it is sometimes possible for a man who attempts to block a worthy enterprise to show a greater degree of selfishness than those who, actuated by the belief that fairness to a large number is sufficient reason, ask that that enterprise be undertaken.

As to the patroling of this Paris road under the regular highway appropriations, Mr. Bowker knows, or ought to know, that this method means practically the same kind of road that has existed for a long time. He should also know that in this way money is being largely wasted by his town with no lasting results. It is not usual for anything permanent to stand without a foundation, and any sensible man knows that this applies to road-building.

This article in many respects has the appearance of having been framed for the purpose of influencing that part of the town of Paris which is less familiar with the true conditions of this road and less directly benefited by its improvement to assist in the defeat of a measure that, carried out, would mean much to the prosperity of South Paris and to many people from other places who are entitled to a better medium of travel and transportation than this road now offers.

In this proposed combining of Paris, Hebron and Minot by which all are given an opportunity to build a continuous piece of state road with the generous assistance of the State, it would seem that Minot has the least to gain and Paris the most. In other words, this appears to be by far the best opportunity to date for Paris to put her Paris-to-Hebron road in proper condition. It would also seem, under all existing circumstances, that in this matter a certain obligation rests upon her; for without doubt many of the citizens of Hebron, though realizing that their own roads are not above criticism, have supported this movement more in the hope that such a plan would solve the difficulty of getting the road from South Paris to the Hebron line put into a more endurable condition than for any other reason. Yet in the face of all this, Paris has shown herself delinquent. The other towns with the belief and with some assurance that Paris would act in accord with them qualified. Paris did not.

I understand that some of the business men of South Paris showed their indifference to this measure by not voting at all upon it at the recent Annual Meeting. This points to the indication that there is some indifference to the business that comes to South Paris from Hebron way and to the mutual interests that should exist between the two towns. In this connection I feel impelled to say that within a period of three years I have paid to the business and professional men of South Paris $2,690 and in addition many small amounts of which I have no record. Products of the farm which the people of the Village have seemed glad to get have been taken over this road. In the fall of 1920 I hauled 300 barrels of apples for neighbors and myself to South Paris. I am only one of the many from this way who make many trips to South Paris in a year and who, if they do any business with South Paris must traveel over this well-known road.

In the above stated facts, and in my interest for better traveling and transportation facilities for all concerned can be found my excuse for writing this article. In a small way I am a tax-payer in the town of Paris; so small, in fact, as to have little bearing on this question. However, if there are any citizens in the town of Paris who like to make comparisons, I might call their attention to the fact that the new valuation in Paris on two lots of land, not easily accessible, owned by others and myself shows an increase of 150% over its previous valuation, while the increase in valuation of property far differently located, and owned by a resident of South Paris, who lately has shown so devoted an interest in the welfare of his town, is 10½%.

Some of the citizens of Paris have been working to secure something like a permanent improvement of this unsatisfactory road situation. Is it possible that Paris as a town is lacking a proper sense of obligation or duty in a case of this kind? Her final decision on this question will determine in large measure her reputation as a town among those who have and will in the future travel her far-famed Paris-to-Hebron road in its past and present condition.

H. G. Bowman, Hebron.

Light of the Spade in History.

At Segontium was established the last Roman fort, at the terminus of the military road in North Wales. It is this Roman fort which British archeologists now propose to excavate if the sufficient sum of $10,000 can be raised to defray the expenses of the work.

There are few more obscure periods in the history of Wales than that of the Roman occupation, and it is not to be expected that much light will be thrown upon it by literary records. But the spade may give us what we seek in vain from the written or printed page, and excavation has already yielded valuable results from Caerwent, Gelligaer, Castell Collen and Caersws. So far, however, nothing has been done in the northwest corner of the principality, that region of Gwynnedd which occupies so large a space in the history of medieval Wales. The proposed excavation of Segontium may enable this gap to be filled with accurate if not extensive information.

People who crave smoking in this life shouldn't object to it in the next.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

Simon G. Richardson

Simon G. Richardson died at Augusta, February 28th, of senial old age, aged 77 years, 9 months and 5 days. He was born in Norway in 1845, the son of Mark S. and Susan Grover Richardson. He attended the Norway common schools and has been a life long resident of the town.

In early life he followed the occupation of millman and ship builder; later that of gardener. In politics he was a democrat.

He married Mary J. Walker of Norway, March 25, 1871. They had seven children, two of whom, Susie E., wife of Henry Austin, and Ethel L., wife of Wilber Rogers are dead. He is survived by his wife and five children, Benjamin F. Richardson of Norway; George M. Richardson of Portland; Hattie, wife of Don Simpson of New York, and Frances, wife of Frank Clark of Worcester, Mass.

The funeral was held at 1 o'clock Friday from Spiller's funeral parlors, Norway, Rev. Howard Newton the officiating clergyman. The bearers were James Frost, Charles Pride, Eugene Lebroke and Willie Kneeland. The remains were placed in the tomb at Pine Grove Cemetery and later will be buried in the family lot at Norway Center.

KEZAR FALLS

The last Quarterly Conference of the year was held in the M. E. Church on the evening of March 1st, John M. Arters D. D. presiding. The sermon given by Mr. Arters previous to the Conference was listened to with much interest and pleasure. At the business session the vote was unanimous for the return of Rev. Harry Whitely.

Mrs. Fred Whiton is in Roxbury, Mass., the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Sprague.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ridlon, who have spent the past four months in Portland, returned to their home here, Saturday.

Mrs. Harry Whitely, who has been at the Deaconness Hospital in Boston for some weeks arrived home Tuesday greatly improved in health.

Last Wednesday, evening, the 1st of March, the Daisy class of the M. E. Sunday School gave a supper and entertainment at Knights of Pythias Hall, entertainment consisting of farce, monologue, tableaux and music, vocal and instrumental. The Daisies have been very successful in their endeavors to assist in defraying expenses of painting the church.

Almost every household in the village has the grip and the doctors are kept busy. Providentially not all of the family are afflicted at the same time although there are exceptional cases.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Garver and their son W. A. Garver, wife and two children returned from Florida, March 1st. The old home town looks good to them for they found no place in their wanderings immune from sickness or death.

PHINEAS' PHILOSOPHY
By Win Kimball

Speaking of Autos "As Is"

Of all the words of tongue or pen, "AS IS" is ther wurst couple of words I exer had to do with. I bot a auto, 9s Is, an I been tryin to solve the Is part of it. It is abou every thin thet the dealer says it isn't, an what it isn't, isn't wurth menshuin..

I wuld suggest they call it "What it Was" instead of the endeerin term they now use.

I notice thet you go around to different folks an ask them how they like ther auto an they most always tell you all the wunders of ther brand of machine. A month or so later yer may see them in a new car of a different brand, an they sort of keep out of yer way if they see yer comin first. I caught one of these birds recently an I says to him "I thot yer old car was a wunder," he says, "Oh it was but", An then he forgets all about the old car an begins to tell yer about this new wunder of a car. If yer go around to a dealer he will tell yer thet his car is about the right thing, an if yer menshun thet yer sort of had yer eye on anuther make, he can tell yer more bad points about this species then the other dealer can tell the good points. If yer keep going around yer get so yer are supicious of any thin on four tires.

I don't mean thet all dealers are this way for most of em will say "Now I don't beleeve in nockin a competiter, but I want yer to keep this a secret for it is to yer own good to know this, thet car rides so hard thet I known a friend of mine thet has to put in soft air in the tires to make it ride any where decent."

When yer get the auto bug in your bonnet yer can't help buyin one, so yer might as well shut yer eyes an grab the first one yer hands get on, an get it over with so as yer can return to a normal condishun.

Electric Plant on Coal Fields.

The modern method of building an electric-generating plant directly over a coal supply, and transmitting energy instead of fuel to the point of consumption, is to be employed by the state of Victoria, Australia, for supplying the city of Melbourne. The field of brown coal to be used immediately is at Morwell, 80 miles away, and is accessible by open cutting. There is, it is estimated, 20,000,000,000 tons in the district and 150,000,000 tons in one square mile, enough to generate 100,000 kilowatts for 150 years. A 40,000 to 50,000 kilowatt station will be built first, which will be sufficient for three years, but later the development will be extended, and finally include the utilization of the Kiewa river and other water powers.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Value of Snakes.

Most people have a decided shrinking from snakes, which is not to be wondered at in tropical countries, where their bite is venomous and often fatal. But the grass snake ought not to be confounded with the rattlers, cobras or pythons. It is as harmless to humanity as a frog and a good deal more useful. No greater enemy to bugs is in existence. And slugs are among the most hurtful of garden and field pests. They keep down the numbers also of such other pests as mice, shrews and other small rodents. But as slug destroyers they deserve to be cherished rather than massacred at sight, which is their usual fate.

AILING WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Linton Tells How Helpful Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is at This Period

Denver, Colorado.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for seven years and I cannot tell you the good it has done me. It is good for young and old and I always keep a bottle of it in the house, for I am at that time of life when it calls for Lydia E. Pinkham's help. My husband saw your ad. in the papers and said 'You have taken everything you can think of, now I want you to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound!' So I let him get it, and I soon felt better and he told me 'I want you to take about six bottles.' So I did and I keep house and do all my own work and work out by the day and feel fine now. I tell every one about the Vegetable Compound, for so many of my friends thought I would not get well."—Mrs. R. J. LINTON, 1850 West 33d Avenue, Denver, Colorado.

After reading letters like the above, and we are constantly publishing them, why should any woman hesitate to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she is in need of help? It brings relief where other medicines fail.

Courtesy a Principle

The first thing in our business is to know all there is to be known about the care and repair of storage batteries.

But we can't for a minute forget that it is not only what we do but the way we do it that counts.

Our way is always the courteous way. You may be sure that we will treat you just as we would want you to treat us if you were the battery service man and we were the car owner.

Bring your battery in. If it's a Willard Battery you're to be congratulated. But you will get the same attention, the same courtesy and the same service whether it is a Willard or not.

FUTURE AUTO MOTIVE POWER

Interesting Speculation as to What Will Take the Place of Fast-Diminishing Gasoline.

Gasoline will continue to go up in price. A few years from now we shall have to use something else as fuel for our automobiles. The question is, what?

The government bureau of mines thinks that we shall get the requisite substitute from coal. In every city there will be "by-product coke ovens," which will extract from the coal a light oil available for the purpose. The coke can then be used in our furnaces and for other ordinary fuel purposes.

One ton of soft coal in the process of coking yields about three gallons of oil first rate for motor fuel. At present prices the heat in the oil has 20 times the commercial value of the same amount of heat in the form of coal.

Germany during part of the war was practically shut off from every supply of mineral oil. She depended for her motor fuel entirely on coal, putting the latter through by-product coking plants. Before long we shall be obliged to do the same thing in the United States.

Part of the light oil in coal is toluol, which in time of war is needed for the manufacture of TNT. Modern warfare requires enormous quantities of the substance for making high-explosive shells. During the first part of the war the allies came near defeat for lack of it.

Another by-product from the coking of one ton of soft coal is 5,000 cubic feet of gas, available for cooking and other household uses. The coke itself makes an admirable smokeless fuel for furnaces, if people could only be persuaded to use it.

SEES INFLUENCE AS HANDICAP

Charles M. Schwab Insists That Character Is the Biggest Asset in Modern Business.

Influence! The worst thing that can happen to a man is to start life with influence. So declared Charles M. Schwab in a talk to Princeton students upon how to succeed in business, remarks Leslie's. Young fellows who excuse their failure on the score of having no influential friend to give them a boost get cold comfort from Mr. Schwab, who has come up from the ranks, and who now goes so far as to advise any young man who has an influence not to use it to get a start. Mr. Schwab laid down as the first fundamental of a successful life, "Unimpeachable integrity." Character is the biggest asset in business. A whole array of brilliant qualities will not take the place of this cornerstone of enduring success. The whole tenor of Mr. Schwab's heart-to-heart talk was a new emphasis on the old-fashioned qualities of loyalty, industry and persistence. The young man who possesses these traits is bound to succeed, for opportunity was never so great as it is today. No industry is more highly organized than the steel industry, yet with all the progress made in the last 20 years the industry is far from its zenith. So great is the magnitude of modern industry in all branches that opportunities for leadership, instead of decreasing as some imagine, have actually increased in proportion as industry itself has grown.

VALVE-IN-HEAD Buick MOTOR CARS

More Facts You Should Know

1 For the calendar year, January 1, 1921, to January 1, 1922, Buick built and actually sold over 80,000 automobiles.

2 These sales for the calendar year 1921 exceeded by over 12,000 cars the sales of any automobile manufacturer having a six-cylinder automobile in its line.

3 These sales for this period likewise represent a volume of business greater by over $9,000,000 than the sales of any other automobile manufacturer excluding Ford.

MEN AWARDED GODLIKE RANK

Two Worshiped in China and Elaborate Temples Erected at the Birthplace of One.

Man worship is still practiced in China, according to Rev. F. S. Burket, a Baptist minister of Changning, who found two disciples of the late Liau, seated on thrones and receiving the obeisance of thousands of their followers.

Liau, who achieved local fame years ago, because of his reputed power of healing diseases and relieving the oppressed in spirit, was executed by the authorities, who feared an uprising. Two of Liau's disciples, Ling Shuk and Lai Sam Shuk, however, like their master, began to heal diseases in his name, and gradually were raised by their followers to the same godlike rank accorded Liau.

Ling Shuk is seventy-one years old and Lai Sam Shuk eight years his junior. Several ornate temples have been built to Liau. At the main one, located at Liau's birthplace about 15 miles from Changning, the missionary found gathered more than 2,000 people to celebrate Liau's birth anniversary. The two immortals were seated on the highest of a series of terraces with an empty throne between them for the spirit of Liau. Before them stood a large table covered with ornamental objects and in front of this the worshipers go through strange gymnastics.

Sharing Your Books.

The world is full of shut-ins, and there are those who are starving for books and papers, but how many of us make any effort to search them out?

A clever article on books which I lately read annoyed me by explaining how stupid is the custom of borrowing books, and how vastly more desirable it is for each man to own his own. I decided that the writer was a rich man (although my better judgment should tell me that writers seldom are rich), and I decided also that he was missing a lot of good things if he neither lends nor borrows books. I believe that a book is about the pleasantest thing there is to share. It produces such a bond of sympathy if it is enjoyed by a friend, and it provides at once something worth while to talk about.

And people do return books, especially if you put your name and "please return" inside and remember where your books are visiting.—Ella Wister Haines in Christian Herald.

SPRING DEBILITY

Loss of Appetite, That Tired Feeling and Sometimes Eruptions.

Thousands take Hood's Sarsaparilla as a spring medicine for that tired feeling, nervous weakness, impure blood and say it makes them feel better, eat and sleep better, and "makes food taste good."

Spring debility is a condition in which it is especially hard to combat disease germs, which invade the system here, there and everywhere. The white blood corpuscles, sometimes called "the little soldiers in the blood," because it is their duty to fight disease germs, are too weak to do good service.

Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens the "little soldiers" and enables them to repel germs of grip, influenza, fevers and other ailments; relieves catarrh and rheumatism. It has given satisfaction to three generations. Get it today, and for a laxative take Hood's Pills.

Mill Owners: We have on hand a quantity of type metal which we have re-melted and cleared of dross and run into pigs weighing about three pounds each: the price is 15 cts. per pound, F. O. B. Norway, Me.

The Fulfillment

By GEORGE ELMER COBB

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

They were a mismated pair, and both Darrel and Elinor Isham recognized the fact before they had been married a month. As Elinor Dawes she had been left penniless and alone by the death of her father. Isham and he had worked side by side at a desk in a large wholesale house and Isham had often spent the evening at the Dawes home. He had been very kind and thoughtful in seeing that all due respect was paid to her dead father and had considerately relieved her of many distressful details accompanying the funeral. Then, alone with her in the silent house, a great wave of pity had swept over him and she, desolate, caring little for life or its awards just at that moment, longing only for consolation and sympathy, they drifted into the mistake of believing their destiny to be mutual. They were married and settled down in the old humble home.

They were dissimilar in temperament and mold in every way. Isham was not fitted for confined work at the desk and dragged himself home evenings well nigh at the point of exhaustion. Elinor never flinched from strict duty. She realized that her husband would never be hardy and strong, and gave herself up to solicitous care for his health and comfort. She never complained of the monotonous life they led. Only once did her thoughts revert to the past. They expressed their poignancy in seven words, the agonizing cry of a wounded soul trying to forget:

"Oh, why did not Herbert Wake speak?"

He was a young lawyer, a close friend of Isham. For a time both had come to the Dawes home, but as time went on Wade conceived the idea that his friend and Elinor were attached to each other and reluctantly ceased to call.

About a year after Isham had married Elinor he came to the Wade office one day looking pale and careworn. "Wade," he said, "I am not regaining my health, and I fear I shall be unfit for work. A relative has left me a thousand dollars, and I want you to take charge of it and invest it."

"Very well," replied Wade, "I have had a proposition to take some bonds in a new industrial concern at eight per cent and a bonus of stock which looks very promising. Suppose we go in jointly?"

"I shall be glad to follow your direction," said Isham, and Wade gave a receipt for the money, specifying the fact of a mutual investment.

At the end of six months Isham was able to work only a part of the time. He was compelled to draw the principal in installments until it was all gone.

"I am sorry I have to use it," he said, "but I am forced to do so. I don't know what will happen when I die. Elinor will be left penniless. Look after her as far as you can, won't you, old friend?" The tears stood in his eyes as he spoke, and silently Wade extended his hand.

Wade was away when Isham died. He had been telegraphed to from the city offering him a large amount for the stock he had purchased in the industrial company, and was tendered over $8,000 for the $2,000 investment. The funeral was over when he returned to town. He hastened at once to Mrs. Isham. Kindly, as though he were a brother, he told her of his pledge to her husband. He asked her as to her plans.

"I shall go to the city," she told him. "If I had means I would take up the training of my voice. That was always my ambition. Perhaps I can do that, also, if I can get a good paying position."

"It costs money, Mrs. Isham, but I am glad to inform you that a co-partnership your husband and myself entered into two years ago has resulted in a joint profit," said Wade. "I shall deposit half of it—$4,000—to your account at bank," and he recited the primary details of the copartnership, but said not a word of Isham drawing out all his investment long before he died.

It was a year later when he received a letter from Mrs. Isham. She stated that she was coming to see him on a matter of business.

He had heard of her success as a singer in the city churches and with choral societies, and a portrait in a musical journal had shown her more beautiful than ever. The evening that he called her enchanting beauty fairly dazzled him.

"I have come to return to you the money you so kindly loaned me," she said. "Mr. Wade, you are the noblest friend a woman ever had! Only last week I found some old papers that belonged to my husband—this."

It was the copartnership memorandum, and upon its back were the indorsements made by Darrell Isham, showing that he had drawn all the money he had invested.

"I used only a part of what you so generously gave me," said Elinor, "and I have made a great deal by my singing. True to the dead, true to the living, how I bless you for the courage you put into my life at its darkest moment! If ever I can brighten yours—"

She paused wistfully. Their eyes had met and, it seemed to both that, after all the years, in that mutual glance love, cherished, love ineffable and undying, had found its final consummation.

Men admire preachers who don't ask men where they were last Sunday.

GOVERNOR INDORSES PUBLICITY BUREAU

District Advisory Boards Are Being Organized All Over State

That the Maine Publicity Bureau is attracting wide attention is manifested by the fact that already twenty-five inquiries are received every week requesting information relative to the State. The Bureau has only been in the process of formation for less than a month, and the interest already shown would make certain that when National Advertising is put into effect that thousands of inquiries will be received relative to the Recreational, Agricultural, Industrial and Commercial opportunities in the State.

District Advisory Boards are rapidly being organized all over the State, and as soon as every district is organized, the Bureau will commence functioning in a large way.

Each District Advisory Board will have equal representation on the Executive Board and also the privilege of desk room in the Main Office of the Bureau at Portland. In that way every inquiry received will be referred to each district, so that all have the opportunity to benefit from the program.

Each district will raise its proportionate share of the Budget of $75,000 a year for a period of three years to carry on this work. $55,000 will be spent to nationally advertise every interest in the State, and $20,000 for the maintenance of information bureaus, descriptive literature, etc., appertaining to every district in the State.

This movement has been endorsed by the State Chamber of Commerce, and Agricultural League, Maine Hotel Association, Maine Automobile Association, W. J. Thompson, Master of the State Grange, and other organizations.

March 15th, the anniversary of Maine's admittance into the Union will be observed as "State of Maine Day" in all of the Schools of the State. March 20th to 25th, will be "State of Maine Week" and during that week every effort will be made by the various district advisory Boards to raise the necessary funds to finance this movement.

Governor Percival P. Baxter has endorsed the Maine Program and written to the State of Maine Publicity Bureau as follows:

"The Program your Bureau has outlined for "State of Maine Week" will give our citizens an intimate knowledge of the natural advantages of our State. I want our people to become alive to the opportunities that exist for the development of our agricultural, industrial, commercial and recreational resources.

"Maine owes it to the rest of the Country to let those beyond our borders know about our boundless possibilities The campaign that is about to be launched by the Maine Publicity Bureau is destined to accomplish much for our State and I believe that our own citizens as well as those of our sister States will be benefited by the work you have undertaken."

(Signed) PERCIVAL P. BAXTER,
Governor of Maine.

The Program of the State of Maine Publicity Bureau is for Maine, and every one in the State who believes in Maine should do his part to make this movement a success, in order that it may be possible to advertise the recreational, commercial, industrial and agricultural possibilities and opportunities of Maine to the entire Nation, and truly make Maine a Mecca for Mankind.

LIVED DAY WITHOUT BREATH

Remarkable Case of Suspended Animation Reported in a Leading Berlin Medical Journal.

A case in which a woman lived more than twenty-four hours without breathing and blood circulation is described by Dr. E. Rautenberg in the Deutsche Medizinsche Wochenschrift, Berlin. She was a nurse, aged 23, who took in one dose 1.7 grains of morphine and five grains of barbital. She was found the next day almost dead in a park and was thought to have expired in the ambulance. All the tests for death were applied; the muscles were rigid, the skin intensely pale, there were no reflexes, there was no pulse, respiration or heartbeat. So they sent the body to the morgue.

Fourteen hours later a physician, come to identify the body, heard muffled heartbeats; but there was neither pulse nor respiration. After an hour's treatment, in which camphor and caffein were injected, a hot bath with vigorous application of a flesh brush was given and artificial respiration with oxygen was tried, the pulse began to beat and respiration slowly returned. The following day the woman regained consciousness and was able to talk.

Dr. Rautenberg says the narcotic poison and the cold acting together, had paralyzed the vasomotor nerves and thus reduced the needs of the body to a minimum, the narcotic paralyzing the central nervous system and the cold paralyzing the organs. He suggests that the cold may also have prevented rapid absorption of the poison and that a condition similar to that of hibernation may have tided the woman over till past the danger of pneumonia.

The man who fails in his first attempt should take heart. He is better equipped to avoid the pitfalls of the next.

Even a wise man may feel foolish at times. Haven't you found it so?

South Paris

Paris Won Debate With Norway

South Paris High School won in debate over Norway High School at the Grange Hall, Friday. The judges, Dr. D. M. Stewart, Mrs. Florence J. Haskell and Mrs. Edith M. Wheeler, all of So. Paris, without consultation, decided unanimously in favor of the affirmative.

The question, "Resolved, That the federal government should own and operate the coal mines of the United States constitutionally waived." South Paris supported the affirmative with Hester Ordway, '22 and Hermon Noyes, '22 with Anna Clifford, '22 alternate. The negative by Norway was debated by Houghton Kimball, '23 and Alice Isaacson, '23 with Janet Noyes, '23, alternate. Mr. Kimball was detained by illness and the young ladies carried their side of the question. Alice Isaacson won as the best individual debater.

Alton C. Wheeler presided and the high school orchestra led by Helen M. Barnes played during the evening. Prayer was offered by Rev. John L. Wilson.

The negative team debating the question at Livermore Falls the same evening lost the decision by a 2 to 1 vote. The team included Laura Brooks, Howard Aldrich with Glenna Starbird, alternate. Principal C. O. Turner accompanied them.

Fred W. Bonney, chief mechanic at the Paris Manufacturing Co, has designed and is building a machine to plane both sides of a ski in one operation. Machine will weigh approximately five thousand pounds and turn out a ski a minute.

Healthier Livestock Better Milk

The dairyman can protect the health of his livestock, keep disease away, secure a better quality of milk, increase the value of his livestock and the size of his cream checks.

How?

By disinfecting stables, pens, troughs, mangers, and livestock thoroughly with Fecto; by using Fecto to disinfect the udders of cows, the hands of milkers, milking machines, pails, cans, bottles, vats, separators, strainers, and all receptacles used in the handling and shipping of milk.

Fecto kills the germs of disease and of decay, destroys foul odors, sterilizes and purifies milk receptacles, making them sweet and clean.

Fecto is a clean, colorless, non-poisonous liquid; is ten times more powerful as a germ-destroyer than carbolic acid. Fecto is the ideal disinfectant and sterilizer for use on the farm, dairy, or creamery, because it is non-poisonous when properly diluted; because it does not leave a disagreeable odor; because it is economical.

If so, you know the symptoms:—Loss of appetite, headache, dizziness, nausea and vomiting, frequently meaning prostration for one or more days with loss of time from your regular duties. These attacks vary in frequency and duration, but with a little more care in the matter of diet, they should never occur.

If you would use on retiring a teaspoonful of

Do not use cloths for straining if you want clean milk, most effective of all is sterilized cotton, used but once, then discarded. We have not power to look beyond,
We only know that God is just,
Although our burdens heavy are,
We look to Him with faith and trust.
He lent her to us for a time,

But He saw fit to call her home,
She is not dead, only asleep. *

There is hardly a child but what needs Dr. True's Elixir, for they all usually have worms when growing up. Mrs. Johnson appreciates what Dr. True's Elixir accomplishes. Your children will be in better health through its use.

LOVELL

Elwyn A. Wentworth

The death of Elwin N. Wentworth occurred at his home in Lovell, Friday, March 10th. Mr. Wentworth was the son of Andrew T. and Julia A. Dearborn Wentworth. He was one of a family of seven children, born in 1850 in Jackson. N. H.; at the age of sixteen he came to Lovell, where he has resided ever since. Early in life he was married to Mary Hammonds, one son, Frank blessed this union only to remain with them twelve years. His wife died eight years ago.

Sept. 16th, 1920 he was united in marriage to Eldora Goldthwaite, formerly Eldora Pillsbury. The two couples in their early married life had been the best of friends and this marriage seemed to be ideal for the two who were left to finish the journey of life together. Their married life though short has been filled with much happness and much sympathy is expressed for the lonely partner. Mr. Wentworth lived an exemplary life, always endeavoring to carry out the Golden rule "Whatsoever ye would others should do unto you, do ye even so unto them." He joined the Congregational Church at Lovell many years ago.

The funeral services were held Sunday p. m. at one o'clock from his late home, Rev. Mr. Wild of Fryeburg officiating, his words were very comforting. At the conclusion of the services he was tenderly laid to rest in the family lot at Lovell, Mr. Hill, the undertaker being in charge.

Mr. Wentworth leaves, a widow, one own sister, Mrs. Clara Wentworth of East Conway, several half brothers and sisters, many nieces and nephews and a large circle of friends to mourn their loss.

The floral tributes were beautiful and included:

Pillow "Husband"—Wife.
Assorted Pinks—Sister.
Spray of Pinks—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Goldthwaite.
Spray of Calla Lilies—Mr. and Mrs. Bennett McDaniels.
Spray of Jonquils—Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Stanley.
